Subject: LETTER OF RECOMMENDATION

Dear Reader,

My name is Nika Kristina Butina, the CEO of an Amazon-awarded startup EPIDEMIC which offers brands an AI-enhanced marketing platform to best connect audiences in the digital world.

Valerio Meola has been with our company for over a year during which he has proved to be an important team member. He has been a key player in opening the Italian market in the influencer marketing sphere. He worked on some of our biggest accounts where he handled daily influencer communications, provided guidelines and general customer support, as well as handling our clients on an operational level.

Overall, Valerio is a hard-working young professional with great ability in receiving feedback and implementing said feedback. He has shown great intuition for Social Media and Marketing in general. His biggest strength is his ability to work in a team where he not only proves himself professionally but also with his optimistic and kind attitude.

I would be delighted to recommend Valerio as a potential employee in your company for the stated reasons. If needed, I am willing to provide more information as well.

Kind regards,

Nika Kristina Butina
